Read the Script

We're going to read a new book today. It is called One Wonderful You.

Read and follow the page-by-page implementation support below.

Cover	One Wonderful You	C-A-R
pg. 1	All around the world, children are living their lives, just like you.
pg. 2	All around the world, these children play. Some like to play with a box or a ball.	Do you like to play ball?
pg. 3	Others like to play with a tablet or a toy. But there are no children who play exactly like you. How do you like to play?
pg. 4	All around the world, children dance. Some dance like this.	He looks cool.
pg. 5	Others dance like that. But, there are no children who dance exactly like you. How do you dance?
pg. 6	All around the world, children learn. Some want to learn about things that are right up close.	Do you like to learn?
pg. 7	Others want to learn about things that are far, far, away. But, there are no children who learn exactly like you. What do you want to learn?	Do you like to play ball?
pg. 8	All around the world, children dream. Some dream of their future.	She is _____.

pg. 9	Others dream of magical things. But, there are no children who dream exactly like you. What do you dream?
pg. 10	All around the world, children love. Some love by giving hugs and cuddles.	Do you like cuddles?
pg. 11	Others love by sitting quietly near you. But, there are no children who love exactly like you. How do you love?
pg. 12	All around the world, children are playing and dancing, just like you. They are learning and dreaming, too.	Look! He is picking flowers.
pg. 13	But there are no children who are exactly like you. Do you know why?	You are special.
pg. 14	Because there is only one wonderful you.
